About the artist:

Residing in Langley, B.C. Canadian artist Cynthia Fennell is a self taught artist who has always been creative throughout her life. Country life is in her blood, having deep roots in Langley as her Grandparents on both sides had farms, one on Glover Road in Langley Prairie, the other on Livingstone Road in Murrayville. Her Father as a young man managed prized show cattle, while her Grandfather bred and raised spaniels for show. Born in Langley, raised on a hobby farm in Surrey with horses, cattle, dogs and much more she developed a deep passion for animals and the beautiful outdoors of British Columbia. With her family all grown, and retired from the corporate world she has been honing in on her love of painting since 2018.

Cynthia adheres to the philosophy that less is more. You will find her paintings predominantly in black and white with the occasional hint of colour using acrylics. Periodically she adds texture with clay, sand, or paper to create rustic yet contemporary realism paintings of animals, places, and objects. Keeping a subdued pallet allows her pieces to be timeless for our ever changing decors.

Evoking a sense of connection to her subjects brings her great joy and she hopes it does the same for others.
